

LIVING WITH FRAGILE IDENTITIES

presents:

RAFFI FEGHALI PLAYING STORIES & THE SHOWCASE

FEB 29-MAR 1
19:30-21:00

Night 1: "Playing Stories"

Raffi Feghali, Lebanese peacebuilder/ theatre maker and par excellence actor will lead us in an opening evening of theatre that prompts self-reflection in a fractured world and how we might heal divisions. By playing stories, we are led into further dialogue as we ask how can we overcome historical legacies, remember truthfully, bridge divides and find hope for the future? Raffi's gift of wit and theater will offer a timeless experience as we seek to live well with wounded identities in the common sphere.

Night 2: "The Showcase"

An evening of theatre immersion showcasing socio-political realities and interactive theatre as a peacebuilding tool. The audience will be invited into the experience as they witness workshop participants and actor peacebuilder Raffi Feghali highlighting the ways in which socio-political realities come to life and engage with difficult questions. Come to an evening of engaging theatre and witness the public life realities that are often experienced in our common spaces.
